SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

Few guessed how capably and completely the freshmen entering in January and September of 1939 would commandeer the field of curricular and extra-curricular activity in their four years of attendance.

An extraordinarily early movement for class organization began in Miss Louise Lammer's boys' home room and resulted in the election of officers and sponsor before the end of April, 1940. John Vaughn was elected president; Betty McKenzie, vice-president; Jim Harmon, secretary; and Mary Detrick, treasurer. Mr. William Anderson was elected sponsor. A picnic held May 25, 1940, at the Boy Scout Camp Wildwood marked the first of a series of class affairs.

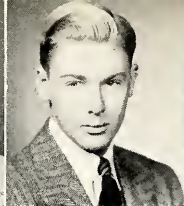

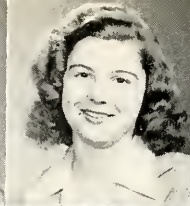

The sophomore year was devoted to pleasure almost entirely: a hay ride terminating at the Quaker Maid Camp and a skating party at the Third Avenue Rink in the fall of 1940; a swimming party at the Student Union Building on February 17, 1941. Another skating party, "43 Skidoo" in April, and another hay ride in June closed the year's fun. Two precedents were broken in the last of the year. A carnival, "The May Gaities", sponsored by the class but involving the whole school, was held the evening of May 23, 1941, and was the first project to fill the class treasury. Finances are usually allowed to drift until the junior year. The second broken precedent was that of ordering the class rings for delivery at the first of the junior year instead of delaying orders until that time.

When the juniors returned in the fall of 1941, they found that Mr. Anderson had retired to business and that they were without a sponsor. The election decisively termed Miss Grace DeVaney the new class sponsor.

After a heated debate, for which the class is known, the mechanics of class government were altered, and an executive committee of Marjorie Pugh, Martha Bays, Norma Risley, James Harmon, Bill Boyle, and Overton Pendergast was elected in a class meeting to assist the officers in management. John Vaughn had been re-elected to presidency. In mid-term he became a senior, and Jim Aitken replaced him from the position of vice-president. Bob Nicosin took Aitken's place.

This was the year to earn the money for the junior prom; so the class

CLASS WILL

We, the class of 1943, being as yet of sound mind and disposing memory, do hereby make, publish, and declare this our last will and testament, hereby revoking all former wills and codicils by us made.

Article I

We will and bequeath:

To the school, everything we don't take with us, including old love notes, discarded books, used chewing gum, and old cigarette butts.

Article II

We will and bequeath:

To the juniors, the joys and sorrows of being sophisticated seniors and in particular our ability to handle our pecuniary difficulties.

To the sophs, saddle oxfords, three inches of height, a "C" card, chewing gum, and a chocolate bar.

To the freshies, the ability to get through in less than five years.

Article III

We will and bequeath:

To Miss DeVaney, another class who will enjoy and appreciate her ability to guide successfully, as our class has in the past years.

To Miss Ross, a new set of trees so she won't have any more dead timber.

To Mr. Jones, the ability to get the senior boys to class meetings on time.

To Mr. Conover, a new toupe to cover his shining top during a black out.

To next year's senior class president, the traditional polka dot shirt.

To the future football team, another "G" on the turkey.

To all next year's "cases", a row of booths along the west wall, by which means they can be assured more privacy than before.

CLASS PROPHECY

It was in June of 1943, on my tenth wedding anniversary, that my husband and I decided to take a trip to California. During our visit we decided to attend the Palladium, and upon arriving there, we found that James Sandlin was manager, assisted by Petie Dillon, head bouncer, and Don Vidal and Herschel Rogers, his assistants. James Aitken, foremost band leader of America, was featured. He has copied the style of Claude Thornhill, using Bob LaFollette on the French horn and David Brentlinger, noted saxophonist. Who should appear as master of ceremonies but Wayne Guire. We were pleasantly surprised to find several Garfield graduates in the show. Some of the chorus girls were Betty Rowley, Barbara Bennett, Barbara Roberts, and Norma McIntosh. Later, The Rockettes made their appearance, and we found four girls in that gracious

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

Early in the fall the junior class of 1942-43 chose a committee to decide on the class ring. A beautiful one was chosen, and there was much excitement around school when the rings were received.

We started our social activities with the novel idea of a "Sock Dance" in the gym. This was scheduled for Friday, October 30, 1943. Hallowe'en colors were used in decorating for this dance. The Third Avenue Skating Rink was the scene of another of the junior parties. This was on Friday, January 29, 1943. Both of these events were open to the student body.

The junior class had the honor of decorating the gym for the Turkey Day Assembly. The gym was quite well camouflaged with purple and white crepe paper.

A large crowd gathered in Garfield's auditorium on the night of Friday, March 5, 1943, to spend the evening enjoying "A NIGHT IN A BOMB-SHELTER". The unexpectedness of what happened and when made a very interesting evening for all who attended.

The greatest social event that we, the juniors, sponsored was the Junior-Senior Banquet and Prom. This was held in the Mayflower Room of the Terre Haute House, Friday, May 28, 1943, and proved to be one of the most talked about activities of the year.

SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

The sophomore class of Garfield entered the school year of 1942-43 with an unusually large enrollment. Under the capable leadership of Miss Latta, our adviser, our class had a profitable and enjoyable year. Our class officers were Pete Varda, president; Bob Hemeier, vice-president; Shirley Hamrick, secretary; Louise Paitson, treasurer.

Early in the fall we laid aside the usual name of "Silly Sophomores", and decided to become "Scrappin' Sophs" instead. We proved true to our name, as we joined whole-heartedly into all war salvage work. We enrolled in the Victory Corps and supported all Student Council and Red Cross drives.

In addition, we have enjoyed several purely social events. On Friday, February 26, over a hundred young people turned out for a skating party at the Third Avenue Skating Rink. On April 1, 1943, a closed party was held in the Lange auditorium, and this particular day added considerable zest to the entertainment. Since we were looking forward to the Junior Prom, several small dancing parties have also been held.

With so much class spirit and cooperation in evidence, Garfield can expect to hear from a lively group of juniors next fall. Watch out! Here we come!

MUSIC DEPARTMENT

The various groups of Garfield's music department have been called upon many times throughout the year to help in numerous patriotic programs. During war times especially, people turn more and more to music as it has a morale-building quality with which nothing else can compete.

The choir has filled many such calls and has built up a splendid reputation by their well-balanced singing. The ensemble has filled frequent engagements for teas, banquets, and meetings of civic groups. The band played for all the home games this year and added much pep and enthusiasm to Garfield's spirit. The orchestra has also progressed splendidly. The glee club's arrangements are beautiful and also show much hard work and skillful guidance.

All in all, the year for the music department has been highly successful.

JUNIOR RED CROSS COUNCIL

The Junior Red Cross Council was organized last fall under the leadership of Miss Ross. We feel that although we have not been organized long, we have had a successful year. Our work has consisted of assisting with the salvage drives, and we have made rompers and pajamas for small children. We gave five dollars to the Senior Red Cross and fifteen dollars to the National Children's Fund. The officers follow:

President Barbara Toth

Vice-President Juanita Trueblood

Secretary-Treasurer Ann Wallace

BLUE TRI CLUB

The Blue Tri Club has had an unusually large membership of two hundred eighty-four girls the past year, and the attendance held up well when the time of meeting, because of a war time school program, was changed from school time to after school hours. More girls have participated in the club work, and time has been saved because of a file kept by Miss Kelly which indicated the particular talents of each one. The club objective has been to help in every way possible toward the war effort. The fall dance, the Lucky Shuffle, was thus called because, as a feature, a twenty-five dollar war bond was given away. Part of the initiation was the wearing of a string of tin cans, which were later turned into the scrap drive. The Service Committee had two projects of vital importance: one was sewing for the Red Cross, and the other was giving programs for the Old Ladies' Home. The music committee helped with the latter by forming a Blue Tri chorus. It not only sang there, but also had a part in a patriotic program at the annual Y. W. C. A. dinner. The programs for the regular meetings have been original. A particular comedy skit called "This is War" did much to keep up the morale of the girls. The devotions have been planned to impress upon the club that the one ruler is God and not some so-called dictator. This committee represented Garfield by giving devotions for the annual Checking-up Conference. The club as a whole donated money to the Occupational Therapy project and to the glasses fund, sold bangles and seals for the Tuberculosis Society, bought the meat for the Thanksgiving baskets, and worked with the Hi-Y in collecting names of former Garfield students now in the armed forces of Uncle Sam. The Ways and Means Committee worked hard to provide sufficient funds for the club treasury. The council members for the past year have been as follows:

HI-Y

Finishing its fifth year, the Garfield's Hi-Y has proved itself one of the leading service clubs of the school.

Some of the services rendered this year have been these: assisting in the city-wide salvage drive; contributing to the Red Cross fund; sponsoring a used-book store; preparing a service roll and flag dedicated to all Garfield alumni in the armed forces; and assisting in all football, basketball, and track events.

The Hi-Y also sponsored a skating party.

In the program for the past year, the Hi-Y has had many noted and interesting speakers. These proved an inspiration to all.

The following are officers of the club:

Mr. Dischinger	Co-Sponsor
Bob Rourke	President
Bob Petty	Vice President
Maver Gibbs	Secretary

RADIO CLASS

The Garfield Radio Class, under the direction of Mrs. Bedwell, has spent a very busy year. Since last September the members have broadcast over W. B. O. W. every week. The projects have been original scripts, written in serial form, and were based on Greek mythology. They proved to be quite popular and brought the class a steady following among listeners.

In addition to these scripts, the class has studied all phases of broadcasting and has produced a program of each type. We hope next year's radio class will gain as much knowledge as we have, and achieve as many interesting and valuable experiences.

GARFIELD PLAYERS

Lights! Places! Curtain! and another work-shop play is under way!

Dramatic Club meets every other Friday, but due to the school's new program, meetings are held after school instead of the third period as before. After-school jobs have caused the Garfield Players to reduce in number with a definite "manpower" shortage. But though quantity has decreased the quality of the try-outs has remained the same, and the players have welcomed several new members. One of the most important new members is our new sponsor, Mrs. Freda Bedwell.

The social highlight of the year was the annual dance planned by a committee headed by Sally Dill.

The officers of the club this year were:

President	Sara Council
Vice-President	Barbara Brooks
Secretary	Beverly Alexander
Treasurer	Betty Lou Hyatt

Best wishes to all you graduating seniors from the Garfield Players.

FORENSIC LEAGUE

The Garfield Forensic Club started its season this fall with a series of debates. When the City Speech League opened, it enrolled entrants in humorous and dramatic declamation; original oratory, oratorical declamation; extemporaneous speaking and poetry reading. Contests were held weekly, beginning in January and ending in March. The Garfield Forensic members were the proud winners of this tournament.

The club debated consistently this year. Lack of transportation has hindered members taking part in as many contests as they would like, but the year has been an active and busy one, with more than an average number of wins.

Garfield Forensic has thirteen new students ready to apply for Forensic charters and outstanding degrees.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY

The choice for the senior class play this year was "The Trouble Solvers", a laugh provoking comedy of two young men who set themselves up in business. And what a business venture it is! For a reasonable fee they agree to solve people's troubles. However, in striving to solve the other fellow's problems they get into no end of difficulties themselves. They are involved in so many mix-ups that it looks as if they will never get out, but all ends well when they accidentally uncover a plot.

began with two features in one day: a rummage sale in the morning and a matinee at the Swan Theater in the afternoon of October 18, 1941. A Hall-owe'en party, partially for pleasure and partially to collect class dues, was held at the Lange auditorium. November 28, 1941, the class brought Karl Varanti, then an exchange student from Finland to DePauw University, to speak on his native land at the "Dessert Party". Then came the really big event: the first "Melody in G". This talent show was held Friday, April 17, 1942, and was exceedingly well prepared and well attended.

The lovely banquet and prom on Friday, May 29, completed the year in fine style. Hank Messer's orchestra played in the Terre Haute House Mayflower Room, and the silver ball suspended from the ceiling cast glints of light over the dancers.

The senior year began rather quietly with only one party the first term and that on October 10, 1942, at the Edgewood Cabin. November 4, the seniors assisted with homecoming as hosts and hostesses. The January graduates had baccalaureate service jointly with other schools at the Congregational Church, January 17, and commencement at the State Gym January 20. That morning just Garfield's class had a farewell breakfast.

The executive committee membership included Patricia Keeney, Mary Detrick, Joan Schabel, Alfred Cuvelier, Jim Sandlin, Rolland Evinger. The officers were chosen as follows: Bill Boyle, president; Jim Harmon, vice-president; Gloria Spence, secretary; and Jerry Fread, treasurer. Throughout the year, the seniors each Monday morning brought speakers for vocational guidance as is the custom of senior classes. Again the main project of the year was "Melody in G", even better, if that is possible, than the one of the year before. This was on the evening of April 30, 1943.

A number of boys either joined the services or were drafted before the senior week. The activities were cut a great deal by the war, but there was a baccalaureate, May 30, jointly with other city graduating classes, and a picnic. The Farewell Dance, the final good-bye to high school fun, was held after commencement exercises June 2, 1943. The graduation was formal, for by a vote of 60 to 40, the class chose to uphold this Garfield tradition.

Upon completion of this year Garfield's class of '43 divides and is no longer a unit, but every member has some memory of his part in the class.

GIRL'S CABINET

The Girls' Cabinet strives always to develop school environment for the girls of Garfield. During this, its third year of existence, the Cabinet has achieved several goals. Two sport dances helped refurnish the livable office of their sponsor, Miss Grace DeVaney.

Semi-annually, the Cabinet sponsors the "big and little sister" project to introduce freshmen to the school. Throughout the year the Swappe Shoppe functions for clothing and jewelry exchange.

The original Cabinet was appointed in 1940 by Miss DeVaney, but since that time, the Cabinet has perpetuated itself by choices of the girls and the sponsor. Always the membership includes four seniors, three juniors, two sophomores, and two freshmen.

On the following pages we have endeavored to portray . .

GARFIELD'S SERVICE FLAG

The need of a record of Garfield's sons in the Armed Forces of the United States was sensed by the Hi-Y Club early in the fall of 1942. Toward this end the club began the work of compiling a card index of the men and women in the service and the displaying of a service banner of some nature.

The banner was made by the girls of the Home Economics class and was presented to the school by the club through its president, at an assembly especially arranged by the officers of the club. The school officials, the members of Krietenstein Post of the American Legion, and the mayor of the city took part in the presentation.

At this time there were more than four hundred ex-Garfield boys and girls in the service. Four had given their lives for their country. Increases in both numbers are shown month by month.

VICTORY CORPS

The Victory Corps has completed its initial year of existence as a vital part of Garfield. When the federal government suggested a mobilization of student power in secondary schools for total war effort, Garfield was the second to respond locally.

January 15, the corps had its formal induction service in the form of a pageant, "Victory Marches On". Four hundred twenty-five or two-thirds of the school joined in the general membership. The five special divisions with sponsors follow: air, James Conover; land, Orville Jones; sea, Homer Powell; production, James Bowles; and civic, Galena Kibby.

There are two major purposes and innumerable minor ones. The entire program is designed to build men for service after high school and also to build the right kind of civilians.

Much of the work that was done from January until June was salvage collection of all sorts. A group of students are Civil Air Patrol Cadets. Red Cross sewing was done by some home rooms. The school bought $2,000 worth of War Savings stamps. A means of checking was devised, and by check sheets filled out in first period classes, an accurate account of student effort was kept.

The general faculty committee for the year was composed of Grace DeVaney, Laura Shryer, and Earl Pike.

SALVAGE DRIVE

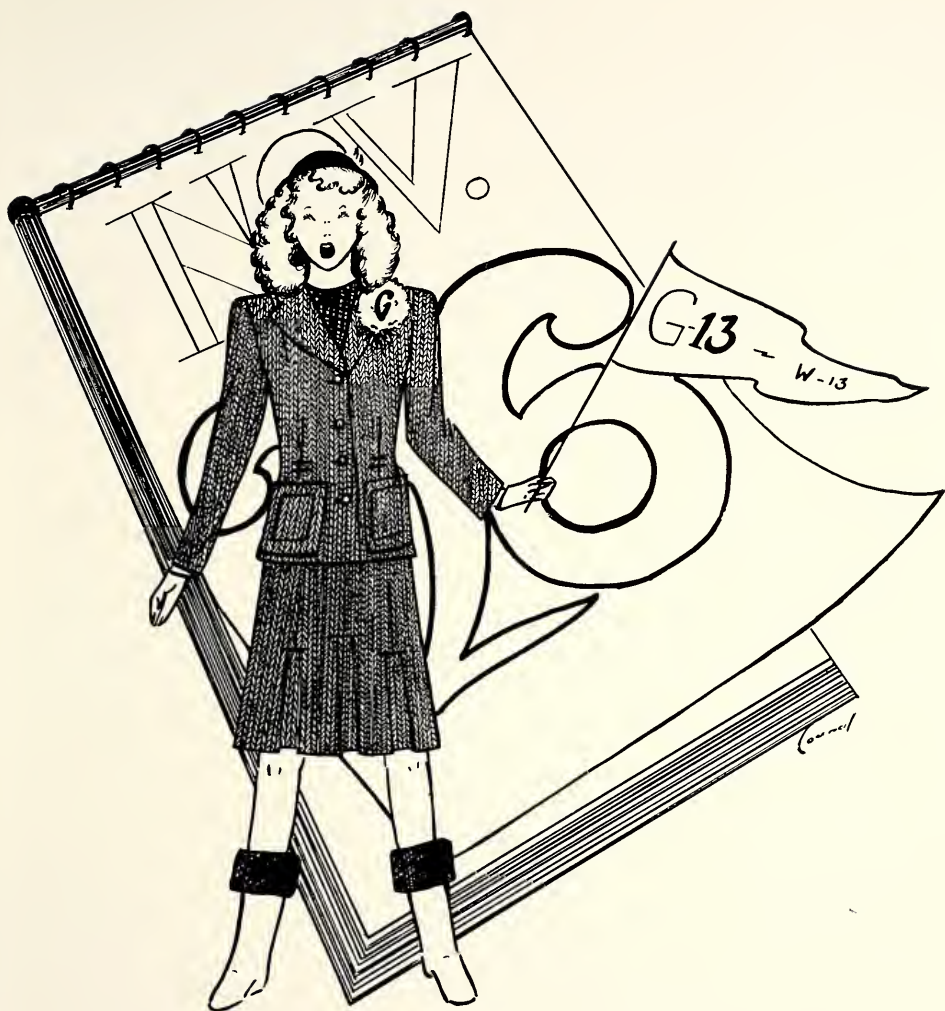

Most Garfield students are doing their part to help in the different salvage drives carried on by the government. They have contributed tons of scrap; hundreds of buttons, hangers, old stamps, books, and magazines; stacks of newspapers; and pounds of tin cans. In some of these drives, especially in books and magazines, Garfield has led the other schools in its district. Success has been due to Miss Ross, the sponsor, and her committees of home room representatives.

FOOTBALL

Although winning only half their games and tying two, the Purple Eagles of Garfield had a successful season. Garfield was far underrated, but they had that necessary spirit to forge ahead. Under the skillful guidance of Coach Donas Dischinger and the assistance of Phillip Cartwright and Willard Kehrt, they were the only team to defeat Linton, the Wabash Valley Champions. They also tied Wiley High for the first time in several years.

Bob Rourke was honorary captain for the season. Cecil Smith was elected captain by the team, and he also received the "most valuable player's" award. Jerry Fread and Bob Rourke made the Wabash Valley second team, and Cecil Smith, "Punky" Evinger, Jim Rowe, and Bob Smith received honorable mention.

body of dancers, who represented Garfield. They were Winifred Neil, Martha Bridgewater, Betty Keep, and Carolyn Rogers. Betty Spears and Agnes Sobin were the main skaters in the show Ice Capades.

During the brief intermission, John Lamb "Wetzel" came in selling newspapers. We noted in the headlines that Mayor Don Gray of Hollywood has appointed Don Fread chief street cleaner. John invited us to his home where we were astonished to see Dorothy Burton as his wife. He showed us a letter which he had recently received from Marian Nash, manager of Poet's Nook. The letter was filled with news items concerning nearly every Garfield grad of the class of 1943. There was also a Lux soap ad enclosed, on which was pictured Suse Ann Bayles, advertising the lovely complexion soap. Following this were some bits of news about other members of the class.

Major Ruel Burns has become a professional soldier.

Bill Boyle and Jim Humphreys are partners in a large dental laboratory.

Paul Kohl and Bob Rourke are medical doctors practicing in a Terre Haute clinic.

Overton Pendergast is president of Pan-American Airways, Inc.

Bob Westrup and Bob Nicoson are salesmen for Thompson's Toothpaste. Incidentally, this particular brand is manufactured by Marjorie Thompson.

Tom Records is head desk clerk at the Y. M. C. A.

Bill Steed now owns all the bowling alleys in Terre Haute.

Dorothy Thorp runs a day nursery. Her daily customers are the former Betty McKenzie, Marjory Gordon, Mildred Mickage, and Betty Schimmel.

Jerry Fread owns a large decorating company, and his artist is James Harmon.

Don Lycan has taken over Bing Crosby's race track.

Helen Rose White owns all White Rose Gas Stations.

Jack Thompson owns a radio station. One of his sponsors is Jack Martin Bird Seed Company, with Archileen Mullis selling it over the radio.

Gordon Sweeney and Ralph Thompson are living on the Fiji Islands.

Betty Stapleton owns all the news stands in town.

George Lambert owns all cleaning establishments in Terre Haute.

Jane Reinhoehl finally was named Miss Sun Kist of California.

Marian Robson and Betty McGuigan are stewardesses.
